January President's Message

Friends,

It was 'Oy to the World' that brought back the wonderful sentiments of this season at our annual Chanukah party. Leon Metlay led us in that song along with other great tunes and ditties. The tasty dishes - including hot potato soup, latkes - and table setting were prepared by Ruth and Steve Teitel, Janet Grable, Aline Honickman, Herb Spencer, Leon Metlay, Dianne Hooker and Ira Cohen.

Adding to the fun was the great stand-up routine that Steve Teitel gave us. Jerry Seinfeld must be trembling at this competitive talent. It was amazing how the jokes kept coming. BHBI could well become the center of a new Borscht Belt. We also had a splendid challenging production of Jewish Jeopardy led by emcee Stan Schaffer. Stan also created all the questions. After crushing my two competitors in the first half of the quiz, I graciously turned over my fantastic lead to Leon Metlay to "clean up" - only to watch as Ira Cohen made a dramatic comeback to win it all.

The kids playing dreidial games formed the backdrop to the evening's events.

Thanks also to Phil and Annette Garver who made a generous donation to help sponsor the Chanukah dinner, but unfortunately could not attend as they had planned to.

We were all deeply saddened by the untimely passing of Rabbi Lawrence Skopitz - the rabbi at Temple Beth David for the past 25 years. Rabbi Skopitz had bravely fought his illness for many months. Beth David and the entire community will miss his wonderful good humor, boundless patience and inspiring leadership.

In the literal meaning of Chanukah and its spirit, let us follow the example of Rabbi Skopitz - and rededicate ourselves to a life of compassion and lovingkindness through Torah.

See you at shul,

Harris Honickman

FOCUS ON ISRAEL

The Aliyah of the B'nai Menashe

In recent weeks, Israel has experienced a significant increase in the aliyah of the B'nai Menashe, a group of Jews from India's easternmost states of Manipur and Mizoram, in the highlands near the borders of Bangladesh and Burma. The B'nai Menashe have Chinese appearance and, according to their oral tradition, claim to be descents of the Tribe of Menashe, which they believe made its way to Persia and then China after the destruction of the Northern Kingdom of Israel by the Assyrians, eventually migrating to a remote corner of India. In the late 1800s, Christian missionaries arrived and converted most of them to Christianity. By the 1970s, some of them began researching their ancient roots and small numbers began to learn more about and practice Judaism. Evidence of their Jewish roots was very strong, with them maintaining the traditions of brit milah on the eighth day of life, fasting on Yom Kippur, and wearing shawls, not unlike tallit, when they pray. They also offered animal sacrifices as in the days of the Temple.

The B'nai Menashe number about 7,000 people; about 1,000 converted and quietly made aliyah to Israel over the past decade. In 2005, the Sephardic Chief Rabbi of Israel, Shlomo Amar, formally recognized the B'nai Menashe as 'descendants of Israel'. He sent a beth din to India, which converted most of the remaining B'nai Menashe to Judaism. Now, they are making aliyah to Israel en masse. In an emotional moment, on November 23rd, an El Al flight from Bombay carried 50 B'nai Menashe to Israel. Later that week, another 168 B'nai Menashe followed. Some of those waiting for their arrival at Ben Gurion Airport in Israel were their children and grandchildren who had arrived earlier, including several who are serving in the Israeli Defense Forces. Thousands of other B'nai Menashe are set to soon follow in their footsteps and rejoin the Jewish people in Israel.
