February President's Message

Friends,

January has been a slow month at BHBI. So, let me tell you about my new iPhone. I finally yielded to temptation, and got my iPhone last month. Let me tell you, it is way cooler than anything they had on Star Trek. As you may know, with a smart phone like the iPhone, you don't use it much to actually call people. Instead, you "text" them. And as you type your text message in, the iPhone is so smart that it automatically offers to complete words for you on the basis of the first few letters you type. Now what I have discovered is that the iPhone seems to have a yiddische neshama. As you type, its auto-completion system recognizes kvetching, chutzpah, nudnik, and schlemiel. Lest you think all smart phones are like this, I am told that such words are all Greek to a Blackberry. I am sure Steve Jobs shlepped lots of naches from his iPhone. Of course there is still room for improvement. The iPhone does not yet recognize shlep or naches (it suggests instead sheep and niches). All I can say to my iPhone is, שטראל מיר ארויף סקאטטי (put that in your Google translator!).

As the weather gets colder, we all like to huddle under the covers, and sometimes that early Saturday morning trip to shul can seem too formidable to attempt. Let me nevertheless encourage you come. We have members saying kaddish, and members with yahrzeits, and it is important for us to provide a minyán for them. So please muster that extra effort and come to services. You will be happy you did!

Finally, with sadness we note the passing of Gloria Taxon, mother of Janet Grable.

See you in shul,

Steve Teitel

Tu B'Shevat – The New Year of the Trees is February 8th

Tu B'Shevat is a holiday intimately connected to the agricultural cycle of the Land of Israel. Falling in the middle of the Jewish month of Shevat, the 15th day of the month is the New Year of Trees. Today, this holiday is often celebrated by planting saplings and also by participating in a seder-meal that echoes the Passover seder, in which the produce of trees, including fruits and nuts, are eaten.

The Bible expresses a great reverence for fruit trees as symbols of God's bounty and beneficence. Special laws were formulated to protect fruit trees in times of war and ensure that the produce of trees would not be picked until the trees were mature enough and tithes were given from them. In order to calculate the age of trees, both for determining when they could be harvested and when they were to be tithed for the Temple, the Talmudic Rabbis established the 15th day (Tu) of the month of Shevat as the official "birthday" of trees.

Subsequent to the destruction of the Temple, Tu B'Shevat lost much of its relevance, but in the middle ages it was rediscovered by Jewish mystics. In the modern period it has enjoyed another revival as a holiday that links Jews with the land of Israel and as a Jewish celebration of the environment.

With the increased concern for the environment in recent years, Tu B'Shevat has taken on an additional meaning as a day on which Jews can express and act on their concern for the ecological well-being of the world in which we live. This has led to the rediscovery of the mystical Tu B'Shevat seder, now transformed into a celebration of God's bounty and the environment.

EVENTS IN THE COMMUNITY

Israel at the UN: A Nation That Dwells Alone? - Saturday evening, February 4th at 7:30pm at Congregation Beth Shalom. This special event will feature a lecture by the executive director of UN Watch, Hillel Neuer. Valet parking will be available. The entrance fee is $10 and $5 for students. A dessert reception will follow the lecture. Mr. Neuer will present an eyewitness account of how the UN's obsession with targeting Israel undermines its mandate to protect human rights worldwide, with an insider's analysis of the factors behind the prejudice—and how to combat it.

Hillel Neuer is the executive director of UN Watch. An internationally renowned speaker, Mr. Neuer has testified before the United Nations and the U.S. Congress. He taught international human rights at the Geneva School of Diplomacy, and from 2008-2011 served as Vice-President of the NGO Special Committee on Human Rights in Geneva. Mr. Neuer has published widely on international law and human rights, and has appeared on CNN, BBC, Sky, FOX News, and Al Jazeera. U.S. Congressman Howard Berman, speaking in the House Foreign Affairs Committee, described Mr. Neuer as "one of the strongest and most informed critics of the UN Human Rights Council." Neuer's "Banned Speech" has become the most-viewed NGO speech in UN history, seen more than half a million times. Watch the video at www.unwatch.org/speech.

Israel 2012 –Next up in this year's Jewish Federation Israel speaker series is a presentation by Dr. Reuven Hazan on February 6th, entitled "The Headlines: What's the News of the Day and What does it Mean for Israel?" The series "Israel 2012" is sponsored by the Federation's Community Relations Committee. All are welcome to hear Dr. Hazan who will speak at Temple Beth El, 139 S. Winton Road, at 7:00 PM. All 'Israel 2012' lectures are free of charge.

Reuven Hazan, a favorite with Rochester audiences with a genius for making complex politics comprehensible, is a professor of Political Science at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. His expertise is in historical and current analysis of Israeli politics, particularly putting into context the developments that are in the headlines. Dr. Hazan was intimately involved in reforming Israel's electoral system and continues to advise Israel's politicians on the restructuring of its legislative branch.

Dr. Hazan works with Israel's top think tanks and serves as a consultant for several political parties. Due to his expertise he is if often called upon as a commentator for radio stations such as NPR, and has appeared on most major television networks in North America and elsewhere. He has been quoted in magazines such as Time and Newsweek, and in newspapers including the Los Angeles Times and the Boston Globe.

While studying for his Bachelor's degree, he was a parliamentary assistant in the Israeli Knesset, where his work focused on the Foreign Affairs and Defense Committee. Subsequently, he was a reporter for the Jerusalem Post and worked the editorial desk, where he was responsible for monitoring breaking news and assuring that when the paper went to press it was as current as possible.

When working on his Ph.D. at Columbia University in New York, he also served with the Israeli Ministry of Foreign Affairs as an Academic Officer, where he was in charge of promoting Israel and educating Jewish students on American campuses while countering anti-Israeli academic activities across the United States.

On March 2nd, tens of thousands of Jews across America will come together to eat, drink, relax, dance, enjoy, debate and celebrate at the 16th Annual ...

SHABBAT ACROSS AMERICA/CANADA

On Friday night, March 2, 2011 hundreds of synagogues across the continent will take part in an historic national Jewish event to celebrate what unifies all Jews -- Shabbat! Everyone is invited... singles, couples, families -- all ages.

Invite your friends—all are welcome!
